

Professional Practice Corner

Drug reps have asked to see my state license when delivering samples... is that OK?

According to the DEA, the drug rep must verify that the practitioner signing for the sample drugs is licensed or authorized under state law to prescribe the drug product. They can request your state license number or, if a scheduled drug is being requested, your DEA number. Nothing specifically states that they must see your license or DEA certificate.